

Templates

This guide assumes that you're familiar with modifications and that you have at least basic skills in creating modifications in the Frosmo Control Panel.

A template defines a reusable piece of content for modifications. Instead of manually coding the content for a modification variation, you can use a template to dynamically provide that content, and merely define whatever options the template supports for customizing the content in the variation.

This guide introduces the template feature, and shows you how to create and use templates in the Frosmo Control Panel.
